

Street Sex Workers: A Message from A Street Sex Worker

Assefa M*

Addis Ababa University, Ethiopia

Corresponding author: Messeret Assefa, Associate Professor, College of Education and Behavioural Studies, Addis Ababa University, Ethiopia, Tel: 01111239716; Email: messeret13@gmail.com

Received Date: September 09, 2024; Published Date: October 02, 2024

Stood "I" on the roadside
The flickering night light beside
Glowing a thigh naked
And to trigger some lust
But now here I tell
That all is not well
For the chilling night cold
Is shivering me bad
Smiley goes "I"
Cajoling a passer by
In need of sexual sigh
As though I am sex-goddess
To do worshipped by inter-course
But now here I tell
That's just a long tale
For my smile is not desire
But a facade of despair
Desperation in life
As looked up with a scoff
As being insulted by the drunkard
Hammered by the sadist
Or the salacious misogynist
All these and much else
Are the facts of business which I the woman?
Dubbed the street girl in slight
Must appeal for your reason
To take me as a human